Hospitals count on Compendium's lease concepts

München, 12. Mai 2009

The medical sector grows whilst hospitals are facing an increasing cost pressure for their business. Compendium's flexible lease concepts allow decision makers to make further investments in patient-centred services.

In order to be able to make use of state-of-the-art technologies and at the same time not putting a great strain on financial solvency, it is in particular necessary to finance high-quality equipment in this sector. Compendium is manufacturer independent, meaning that we finance projects no matter which supplier you choose. That will complement structured projects such as the opening scenarios for new radiology or radiotherapy treatment facilities and the like.
